Young Achievers March 2017 Newsletter

Some parents have been asking why their child keeps talking about steam. Well STEAM stand for Science, Technology, Engineering, Art and Math! At YALC we use a STEAM based curriculum why planning structured activities, group projects and other events. Last month we worked on cause and effect projects. Ask your child to explain what cause and effect is and to point out some examples. You can also ask them to show you a chain reaction experiment using popsicle sticks!

This month we are working on the minute marble run! The minute marble run is a challenge that was posted by the James Dyson Foundation (yes- the same Dyson that makes those fancy vacuum cleaners that swivel on a ball and are cordless and those safe fans with no blades).

Child Spot Light

At Lowell the youth were working on valentines for the world. This one says "I would make the world a better place by making everybody love each other!"

Below youth are celebrating 100 days of school, learning, knowledge and fun at YALC!
